

Mauri Rose Again Captures Indianapolis Racing Classic

Breaks Ten-Year Speed Record In 3rd Win

Indianapolis, May 31—(AP)—Mauri Rose, the grand little driver with the big black mustache, streaked to his third triumph in a 500-mile automobile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in the fastest time in history Monday.

The exciting finish was almost identical with the 1947 race, in which Rose and his teammate, Bill Holland, Reading, Pa., finished first and second. Holland trailed Rose Monday across the finish line by barely a mile. Duke Nelson, Los Angeles, was third and Ted Horn, Paterson, N.J., fourth.

As Rose steered his four-cylinder Blue Crown spark plug special across the finish line, the winner in four hours, 10 minutes, 23.38 seconds, for an average of 119.813 mile an hour, he blotted out the previous record set 10 years ago. The late Floyd Roberts had established the record of 117.200, made in his 1936 victory.

Three Triple Winners
Rose, a 42-year-old automotive engineer of South Bend, Ind., joined Wilbur Shaw, president of the Speedway, and Louis Meyer of Los Angeles, builder of automotive racing engines, as the only ones ever to win the Memorial Day classic three times.

Closest to Rose, winner of $20,000 first prize and $8,000 in prize money, came his teammate, Holland, who had combined with Rose to make a two-car race of it in the thrilling last 50 miles. Holland's average speed was 119.147 mph. In the 32nd annual 500-mile race it was established early, often and convincingly for more than 175,000 spectators that the drivers could take it but the cars could not. At the finish there were just seven of the original 33 starters still on the track.

Mechanical failures dogged the drivers from the start when Harry McQuinn of Indianapolis was forced to surrender after driving just two and a half miles. He sheared off the shaft of his super-charger.

From that point on the engine and chassis trouble mounted until 26 had to be dragged back to the garages.

Horn Again Near Top
While the ultimate cheers of the tremendous crowd went to Rose and Holland, a special ovation went to Ted Horn, one of the top four finishers for his ninth straight race. An attempt had been made to sabotage Horn's Italian Maserati the week before the race, but a handful of sand found in the crank case apparently did not damage the engine.

In the winner's circle, Rose's engagement to Miss Ruth Wentworth, gift shop employee in South Bend, was announced. Miss Wentworth said they would be married June 13. Rose has two children by a previous marriage.

The spectators were saddened by misfortune that befell Rex Mays, Glendale, Calif., one of the pre-race favorites. He led for the first 17 laps, fell behind Horn, and remained in a challenging position until he shot back into the lead at 180 miles. He dropped back to fourth at 300 miles and had to give up the race.

Men Who Designed Jap Planes Now Make Bicycles
Tokyo, May 31—(AP)—The two aircraft engineers who designed Japan's top warplanes are making bicycles now. It's a tough job, too, they say.

Kiro Horikoshi, who designed Japan's highly maneuverable Zero fighter, explains, with tongue in cheek, perhaps—that designing planes was child's play compared with designing a bike. We had to learn stresses and tensile strengths all over again.

Horikoshi and Kiro Honojo, who designed the two-engine "Betty" bomber, both work for the Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Company. The new style bike they are turning out is made of leftover aluminum which had been intended for fighters and bombers.

New Housing Bill May Be Sidetracked
Washington, May 31—(AP)—A leading Democrat said today "it looks like" Congress will fail to enact the Taft-Hillender-Wagner long range housing bill. He predicted Democrats will make housing one of the principal issues of the presidential campaign.

Rep. Spence of Kentucky, senior Democrat on the House Banking committee, told newsmen all indications are that comprehensive homebuilding legislation will be sidetracked in the drive to adjourn Congress two weeks from Saturday.

Robeson Refuses To Say Whether He Is Communist

Washington, May 31—(AP)—Negro singer Paul Robeson told Senate questioners today he would go to jail before he would say whether he is a communist.

Senator Robert (R-Okla.) promptly adopted the idea, with the suggestion that "sometimes a year in jail cooks some of these people off."

But Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the Judiciary committee said he doubted that the committee would take contempt action. Robeson was testifying before the Judiciary committee on the Mundt-Nixon anti-communist bill when the dispute arose.

Put Off Decision
Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) whose direct question Robeson refused to answer, said the committee would decide about contempt later.

The exchange took place after Robeson told the committee he thinks members of the communist party "have done a magnificent job in America."

"Are you an American communist?" Ferguson asked.

"I refuse to answer that question," Robeson replied with emphatic gestures. "This is an invasion of my right of secret ballot."

Ferguson tried back the same question a second time and a third, and Robeson finally broke out.

"Nineteen leading Americans are going to jail for refusal to answer that question and if necessary I will join them."

There were some hisses, mixed with the audience applause that greeted the singer's statement.

Has Communist Friends
His reference to 19 Americans covered the Hollywood writers and others charged with contempt of Congress for refusal to answer similar questions before the House committee on un-American activities.

"Robeson seems to want to be made a martyr," Moore told reporters later. "Maybe we ought to make him one."

Ferguson, however, laid a legal question is involved in the matter of a contempt citation, since a committee quorum was not present during the exchange.

Robeson, on the questions he was willing to answer, told the committee he is not a communist.

He has "many dear friends" who are communists, and he is "interested in a party and a people who stand for complete equality of the Negro people in the United States."

Robeson refused to answer similar questions before the House committee on un-American activities.

Industrial Primer For Total War Sent To Factory Owners

Washington, May 31—(AP)—An industrial primer for total war is going out to factory owners.

The defense department's munitions board, which prepared the text, laid its emphasis today on two points:

A. How industry can plan now for the weapons needed in case of war.

B. A strong hint that unless such plans are ready for quick war production the plant may starve for lack of materials and labor.

Board Chairman Thomas J. Hargrave, in announcing to a news conference the handbook for "joint industry-military procurement planning," also presented the latest record on the government's own stake in industrial facilities.

It showed that the government presently owns or has a right to recall to war production 403 of the 3,500 plants it built during the war to produce guns, airplanes, tanks and a multitude of other weapons.

Hargrave said the new guidebook is not a complete blueprint for industrial mobilization for war, but is designed to give plant owners some idea of (1) what might be needed, (2) who should be contacted for information, and (3) how individual factories can prepare and keep up to date their own programs for conversion to war production.

He emphasized the board is trying to avoid any such wild scrambling as occurred in World War II, when services often competed against each other for the output of a factory.

Pilot Watches Vanport Disaster From The Air
Portland, Ore., May 31—(AP)—A flying instructor told today how from the air he saw the city of Vanport smashed to splinters.

Calvin Hulbert, who was in the air when the disaster struck, said the "scurrying waters gave no warning. There was no warning trickle, no minor hole in the dike," he said.

"There was suddenly a six-foot breach in the railroad embankment. Then it was 60 feet, then 600."

"A wall of water 10 feet high slid through the breach, striking down whole apartment buildings like a bulldozer knocks down a sapling."

"The buildings seemed to burst as the water hit them. I saw the whole wall of an apartment pop out like a balloon exploding. The furniture stood undisturbed in the rooms. There were people there, too."

"Two people stood on the porch of their apartment, shrinking from the flood. The building next door crumbled in leisurely fashion. Next time I looked those people were gone. So was the porch."

"An old man ran frantically ahead of the racing waters, pulling a little wagon with two screaming tots in it. The water got him, too."

From the air, Hulbert watched the hubbub in the sections not yet reached by the waves. "It was agony to see the people bustling about trying to save furniture and clothes," he said. "I wanted to yell, to warn them to run for their lives. All I could do was to waggle the wings of my plane."

Truman Declares Flooded Northwest 'Disaster Area'
Washington, May 31—(AP)—President Truman today declared flooded sections in the northwest a "disaster area" and ordered use of surplus property for relief and rehabilitation.

Mr. Truman acted aboard the presidential yacht, Williamsburg, where he is spending most of the day.

The White House said the president "expresses his deepest sympathy for flood victims."

The disaster order covers those parts of the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho in the Valley of the Columbia river and its tributaries.

In Northern Idaho, the Kootenai River Valley is included.

In addition to surplus property in the hands of the War Assets Administration, the order also permits distribution of large quantities of army and navy materials.

Boy, 13, Arrested In Tavern Holdup
Chicago, May 31—(AP)—A 13-year-old boy who escaped yesterday when his companion in a tavern burglary was shot was captured today.

Police identified him as Harry Krieman and said he signed a statement confessing he broke into the tavern. The statement also related he had burglarized a filling station.

3500 Flee Flood Waters In Washington, Oregon

By The Associated Press
Arab armies claimed last night to be encircling Tel Aviv, the capital of Israel. Jewish officials admitted the Iraqis were only nine miles from the city at one point.

News of the military developments came as the political representatives of seven Arab states met in Amman, Trans-Jordan, to reply to the United Nations Security Council's latest order for a cease fire. The Security Council set a deadline of 6 p.m. CDT for the demand for a four-week truce to permit mediation efforts.

Report 114 slain
Paris, May 31—(AP)—A Syrian delegate to the U. N. said a Jewish charge that Arabs planned to use gas in Jerusalem was "a terrible lie."

The Trans-Jordan Arab Legion said it had smashed a Jewish effort to open the vital Tel Aviv-Jerusalem highway. The battle was fought in the Latrun-Bab El Wad area 10-14 miles west of Jerusalem. This is the same area where both sides committed heavy forces last week and killed 600 Jews.

Describing the latest engagement, the Arabs said 114 Jews had been left dead on the battlefield.

Officials of the Christian Union in Palestine drafted a manifesto accusing Jewish forces of using 10 Christian religious and humanitarian institutions in Jerusalem as military bases.

"We can state that the largest part of the shells falling on the Holy Sepulchre and on churches, convents and Christian institutions (as listed by the committee) are of Jewish origin," the statement said.

Compulsory Health Insurance Possible Within Short Time
Chicago, May 31—(AP)—The nation's professional nurses were urged today to extend the coverage of visiting nurse associations.

Dr. Paul Hawley, chief executive officer of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Commission, told a bi-annual convention of the three largest nursing associations that expanded part-time nursing service is a necessary part of improving health care.

Declaring that compulsory government health insurance could be instituted within three years if private voluntary health plans fail to meet national needs, he said:

"About the only practical solution on a voluntary pre-paid health insurance basis, requires 'the use of visiting nurses to spread the cost over a number of patients.'"

The convention, which will run through Friday, is sponsored by the American Nurses' Association, the National League of Nursing Education, and the National Organization for Public Health Nursing.

Number Of Home Buyers 20 Percent Under Last Year
Washington, May 31—(AP)—Americans are cooling off some on the idea of buying new homes. Also automobiles to a lesser extent.

The number in the market for new homes has dropped 20 percent from a year ago, a Federal Reserve board survey shows. For autos, the number has dipped 1 percent.

Nevertheless, there won't be either enough houses or cars built this year to meet the demand of those still planning to buy.

And people as a whole are so buy-minded that at least one out of each four families will overspend its income "heavily."

These findings stood out in a new reserve board report today on a survey it made of consumer finances and buying plans.

The survey also showed that veterans are heavier spenders than others, and that people in the $2,000 to $4,000 a year income classes are more buy-minded than those in the $4,000 to $5,000 class.

People generally are willing to use past savings or credit to carry out their spending plans, the survey report showed, observing that:

1. About 3,000,000 more families or individuals living alone cashed the bonds last year.

2. Of 17,000,000 who bought furniture, refrigerators, radios, washing machines and the like last year, 9,000,000 did so on the installment plan—nearly twice as many as used credit the year before.

Seek Relatives Of Fire Victim
Chicago, May 31—(AP)—Authorities today sought relatives of Mrs. Mary Jane Stuczynski, one of six persons who died Saturday in a west side apartment building fire.

Mrs. Stuczynski and her husband, Albert, burned beyond recognition, were identified by Stuczynski's sister, Mrs. Joseph Kramer of Chicago.

However, efforts to reach parents, two sisters and a brother of the dead woman were unavailing.

TRIP TO RACES ALMOST COSTS BARUCH $2200
New York, May 31—(AP)—Bernard M. Baruch attended the races at Belmont Saturday and later reported the loss of a roll of bills.

George Pearsall, veteran employee in the park's admission department, had turned in a roll of $2,200 bills.

Baruch came back today for the suburban handicap, claimed his property and said that was "the biggest kick I ever got out of anything at a race track." He said Pearsall would get a $500 reward.

St. Paul Stockyards Swept By Flames; Damage Extensive
St. Paul, Minn., May 31—(AP)—Flames raced through a six-block section of the huge carcass of the South St. Paul Union Stockyards Company.

The dealers' division, 88 cattle cars, 30-head head of cattle and a test barn were destroyed. The loading division was damaged heavily.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke. One required hospitalization but apparently was not in serious condition.

The fire was discovered in a shed of baled hay near the loading sheds, situated on the west side of the yards. The yards cover an area of three-quarters of a mile long and a half mile wide.

H. E. Krueger, company policeman, said he was standing near the entrance at 11:45 a.m. when a passerby approached and pointed to the southward end of the yards.

"Isn't that a fire," he asked, Krueger said. "Smoke was eddying down from a hayshed down near the chutes. I ran to turn in an alarm. By the time I could get back the whole chute area was afire."

The flames sped through the pens and had gained great headway before firemen arrived.

Approximately 2,000 head of stock were turned out of pens. Handlers herded them in a swampy area on the fringes of the yards which is known as the "Jungles."

South St. Paul firemen, who called in 10 crews from St. Paul, brought the fire under control within two hours and a half.

2-3,000 Died In Johnstown Flood 59 Years Ago
Johnstown, Pa., May 31—(AP)—The Vanport, Ore., flood occurred one day before the 59th anniversary of a similar disaster—the historic Johnstown flood.

A dam burst across the south fork river and sent a wall of water racing through the western Pennsylvania city of 50,000. A vain attempt was made to warn those in the path of the flood but the warning came too late for most to heed.

The loss of life in the Johnstown flood is listed on the Encyclopedia Britannica at between 2,000 and 3,000. The Grandview cemetery overlooking the present city of 67,327, contains the graves of 779 flood victims never identified.

HITLER IDEAL DIES
Oslo, Norway, May 31—(AP)—The Hon. Ulfreim Freeman-Murford, 35, who Adolf Hitler once was said to have called an ideal Nordic type, died at an Oslo hospital Saturday.

He was a sister-in-law of Sir Oswald Mosley, prewar British Fascist chief.

Lewis River Levels Town Of 18,700

Vanport, Ore., May 31—(AP)—Some 3500 people in Washington towns north of here were fleeing tonight from the flood that destroyed this town of 18,700 Sunday afternoon.

Twenty-five hundred persons were ordered out of South Kelso, Wash., as the Cowlitz river broke that caused a disastrous flood in 1933 threatened to give way.

The Lewis river crashed through the dike which protects the 1,000-population town of Woodland, Wash., and lowland residents fled to higher ground. There was ample warning and no probability of casualties, workers said.

Brig. Gen. E. M. Llewellyn of the Washington national guard said the flood waters from the Lewis river, slowed by sandbags, might not touch the city of Woodland for several hours. Woodland lies 30 miles north of here; Kelso, 50.

People fled from the two cities to avoid a repetition of the disaster that drowned the great town of Vanport without warning Sunday afternoon. Search boats were plying the stricken city here today, seeking victims amid the shattered houses and submerged streets.

Twenty hours of hunting failed to find a single body in the ten to 15 feet of water that still swirled over the great housing town.

No one knew how many of Vanport's 18,700 residents had perished in the flood that broke through a dike Sunday afternoon and roared through the town, sweeping houses, cars, and people before it. Sixty injured were in Portland hospitals.

Three army ducks and an army crash boat chugged over the lake that yesterday was Vanport. The cowboys they towed and their way into broken second stories, searched the rooms for victims.

Chalk marks indicate no bodies had been found since on thousands of the flimsy frame houses. But rescuers could not tell what the splintered, apartments, the unreachable lower floors of houses, and the hundreds of flooded cars might conceal.

"There's undoubtedly are many bodies," said Sheriff Melvin T. Pratt. "I will not venture a guess on how many. We will not find the last victim's body until the river recedes, and that will be a matter of weeks."

The Red Cross reported "dozens" of missing—but could not say how many had been buried in the flood, and how many were rescued safely through Portland's rescue centers.

Evacuees, cringing frantically for missing husbands, wives, and children, were barred from the devastated zone by the danger of still more floods.

The waters swollen by the flooded Columbia river, smashed at other dikes today. Denver avenue, the elevated street to which thousands of Vanport residents fled to save their lives, was at one point this morning.

The water ate at the dike protecting another drainage district east of Vanport, and threatened to break into the suburban area, and the $1-300,000 Portland Meadows race track.

The tumbling waters pressed on dikes of still a third drainage district farther east, and flooded low areas around Portland.

Workers sandbagged against time, hoping to save remaining dikes until the flood reaches its height tomorrow night.

Vanport, once the nation's greatest housing project and Oregon's second largest town, lay in complete destruction today. Only the water towers and one radio tower still stood on their foundations. The town's library, stores, schools, and houses floated crazily, or lay in splintered fragments.

Nation Enjoys Fair Weather
Most of the country enjoyed fair weather with normal temperatures as the three day Memorial holiday drew to a close.

Exceptions to the fair weather were provided by the Middle Atlantic states, Florida, and scattered parts of the southwest. Rains ended in the flood damaged states of Washington and Oregon.

Rains exceeding one inch in 24 hours ended at 10 a.m. (CST) were recorded at Miami, Raleigh, Washington and Philadelphia.

The wheat growing country in the Texas panhandle, southeastern Colorado and parts of Oklahoma obtained scattered showers.

Elsewhere, the weather was fair.

TO WED SATURDAY
Athens, May 31—(AP)—Premier Themistocles Sophoulis announced today that former King Mihai of Romania and Princess Anne of Bourbon Parma will be married in Athens Saturday.

The Norbury Sanatorium, cooperative observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau, yesterday reported official temperatures for Monday as, low, 58; high, 80; and at 6 p.m. 77.

MACARTHUR WON'T RETURN

General Douglas MacArthur, invited by the senate appropriations committee to appear before it, has declined the invitation. The committee wanted to question him about the $463,000,000 aid program for China. He says his return at convention time would be misinterpreted by the people as having a political purpose.

General MacArthur's views about the need of foreign aid would, of course, be very valuable. We have spent billions to bolster an unpopular government in China and are spending large sums to keep the Japanese alive in a politico-economic system which seems to offer small chance for self-sufficiency. MacArthur, at least, has carried on the effort in an orderly manner and with remarkable cooperation from the Japanese.

What political motive may be back of the committee's request voted by 17 to 2, can only be surmised. The request certainly gave the general a chance to show himself during the speculation about the G. O. P. presidential nomination, and perhaps during the actual balloting. As a dark horse he is still to be reckoned with, and more so if he is on the track instead of in the paddock. There is increasing talk about nominating that kind of candidate.

But the general is correct in supposing that his return at this time would subject him to political criticism. He had a right, of course, to allow his name to be used as a presidential candidate, though he was unwise to do so without being on the scene where he could influence the results. The primary results in Wisconsin, his home state, were disastrous. For political advantage, he should have come home sooner.

'A CAREER THAT TEEMS WITH SERVICE'— SAYS A GREAT REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER ABOUT

CHIEF JUSTICE

OF THE ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT

On Jan. 14, 1948, the ILLINOIS STATE JOURNAL of Springfield (Republican), discussing Chief Justice Murphy's address to a class of 257 new lawyers, said:

"Chief Justice Murphy rose from humble beginnings to the topmost judicial post in Illinois. He traveled the route of hard work. He is familiar with service to Americans. His career teems with it."

"Newly admitted lawyers will take heart from counsel such as they heard from Illinois' sound and presiding judge. They will be inspired afresh with patriotism. They will have a graphic concept of practical usefulness along with professional ethics. Chief Justice Murphy and his high court associates personify the type of American judicial integrity that must forever remain inviolate."

'Graduation Just The Beginning—'
Sherwood Eddy

"Beginning a New Life" was the subject taken by Dr. Sherwood Eddy in his baccalaureate address to the 115 graduating students of MacMurray College on Sunday morning.

"As the girls are graduating they have tapped the barest part of the treasures of the past and are now just beginning their education," Dr. Eddy said. "They are now face to face with the four great challenges for each graduate, that of building a new home, a new community, a new world, and before they can do any of these things they must become a new person. In home building each must discover the lost secret of life, a happy home founded and built on an ever expanding and encompassing love."

Make Leadership Goal

The speaker exhorted the graduates to never let the sun set on their wrath. In building a new community they must not become lazy but make of themselves leaders in the particular field in which they are gifted. A new world is being built and they will have a hand in keeping peace in it. The new Israel, new Japan, new Korea and new India are shaping up.

"Do not look only at the thunder cloud of war. We are building a new world in which we Christians should sit down and remember that 'Blessed are the Makers of Peace."

He said he did not favor universal military training but favored instead the building of a vast peace and thinking in that way instead of in a militaristic pattern.

"You are not the master of your fate. You can't build anything until you learn the love of the Lord as the beginning of your life."

Filled In For Bishop

Mr. Eddy took the place of Bishop Ivan Lee Holt as baccalaureate speaker due to the sudden death of Mrs. Holt on Friday.

Wilbur Sheridan presided at the organ. The Rev. Cato Dick gave the prayer followed by a song by the college choir directed by Henry Busche. The Rev. Nelson Price read the scriptures and the Rev. Frank Mars-ton gave the offertory prayer. Thyra Davis, member of this year's graduating class sang "My Redeemer and My Lord." The Rev. J. Fred Melvin gave the benediction.

Tells Of Plans For Return Of War Dead

Memorial Day, honoring American War Dead, is a legal holiday in most states. Maj. Gen. George A. Horan, chief of the Army's Memorial Division, in charge of the program to return World War II dead to this country if next-of-kin desire it, wrote the following article exclusively for the Associated Press.

By Maj. Gen. George A. Horan, Chief, U. S. Army Memorial Division. Memorial Day, 1948, finds almost 40,000 World War II Armed forces dead returned from overseas at the request of next of kin for interment in American soil. Preparations, meanwhile, are going forward for interment of other World War II dead in this country. The Army does not favor one option over another, the motives which impel different decisions become increasingly clear as the program continues. Many want to bring husbands and sons home from remote Pacific islands bearing unfamiliar names because they feel that even when permanent cemeteries are established, the distance and expense involved will preclude visits to the gravesite. These with relatives who fell in Europe sometimes feel that uncertain world conditions make it expedient to return remains to the United States. A number of people, on the other hand, have considered the assurances of President Truman that the permanent American military cemeteries of World War II will reflect the same dignity and beauty so evident in the World War I cemeteries. Then, too, many are aware that those who died in the service of their country frequently expressed a desire to be buried in the lands where they died. Pledged to carry out all feasible wishes of next of kin, the Department of the Army will continue, no matter where final burial may take place, to make this tribute a heartfelt expression of the country's regard for its war dead. Until this program of final burial is ultimately brought to a conclusion, those of us associated with the American graves registration service must consider every day a Memorial Day.

Macomb Pitcher Misses No-Hitter Here Sunday By Bunt; Myers Beaten

Clark's game-opening bunt was all of trouble several times in the five frames that he worked but the north-pitching performance by Al Horn, the Macomb Dodgers' new mound ace, as the visiting aggregation took an exciting 3-0 win over Myers Bros. in the feature game of Sunday night's twin bill at Nichols park diamond.

Horn went the rest of the way without yielding another safety. In fact, an error in the first frame and a walk in the second gave Myers Bros. only two other base runners of the tilt. Horn set down the hosts in order in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

Lynn and Stinoff, Myers' two hurlers, kept Macomb's 10 bloopers fairly well scattered. Lynn got out

Not Worried About The A's, Bucky Harris Says

Philadelphia, May 31.—(P)—The Philadelphia Athletics may be atop the American League ladder today but it doesn't bother the world champion New York Yankees.

"The season's too young," says Yank manager Bucky Harris. "I'm certainly not going to worry about the A's."

Athletic boss Connie Mack, seeking his first pennant since 1931, chuckled: "I'm not worrying about the A's either."

Only Mr. baseball fan is getting excited. 1948 looks like a pennant race not dominated by the American League "big four"—Detroit, Cleveland, Boston and the Yankees.

Connie, who in 47 years at the helm of the Athletics led them to nine pennants, has watched his A's wallow in seventh or eighth place 11 times since 1932.

Now the 83-year-old Mack says "this may be Philadelphia's year."

I.C. Ends Season With 6-5 Loss At Eureka
Eureka, Illinois, college baseball season was ended on a flat note here Monday afternoon as the Blueboys dropped a 6-5 encounter despite assistance from seven Eureka miscreants.

Bob Gregory, I. C. infielder, was touched for a total of 11 hits, although he kept them fairly well scattered. Two errors by his teammates didn't help the situation.

Wuetherich, who did mound duty for the winners, was in good form. He yielded only four safeties during his nine innings on the slab.

The visitors held a momentary lead after the second inning, when they gained four markers on three errors and a hit.

The Eureka attack was aided by two triples by Bob Houser.

Line score:
Illinois 040 000 100—5 4
Eureka 210 000 000—6 11

Boudreau Foresees Five-Team Race For A.L. Pennant
Chicago, May 31.—(P)—Lou Boudreau, player-manager of the Cleveland Indians, predicted a five-team race for the American League pennant.

The Tribe split a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox Sunday with Boudreau playing 16 innings in his regular shortstop spot and two innings as catcher. Lou was forced into the receiving chutes when Jim Hagan was lifted for a pinch batter and Joe Tipton was hit on the wrist by Earl Harris' pitch. These were the Indians' only catches so Boudreau filled the gap.

Before leaving for Cleveland and Monday's doubleheader against the St. Louis Browns, Boudreau summed up his ideas on the title chase: "New York's the team to beat, but I think Philadelphia, Detroit, Boston and ourselves stand an excellent chance to win. Everybody says Philadelphia will run out of gas. I doubt that. Did you ever run down the list of pitchers Connie Mack has available? Nobody is going to get too much on him if the A's continue to play inspired ball."

"And don't forget the A's Eddie Joost," continued Boudreau. "He's a great shortstop and spark plug for the team."

For the most part the mishaps to the cars were mechanical. The only serious wreck was that of Duane Carter, a Speedway freshman from Santa Monica, Calif. His Belanger motors special lost its left front wheel as he was speeding on a new pair of driving gloves to the infield at the southeast turn and broke an axle. He escaped without a scratch.

Mays started the record breaking with the all-time fastest first lap—123.102 miles an hour. Records were shattered at practically every mile in No. 4 position for the first 100 miles, then moved up to second at 200 and was ahead at 300. He jockeyed for first position with Horn between 300 and 350 miles. Horn going ahead on Rose's pit stop and Rose, regaining the lead when Horn had to refuel.

Nelson made a terrific bid to win in the last 100 miles, but ran out of gasoline. His pit crew had trouble restarting the car and he couldn't catch the Blue Crown twins. Nelson was sixth at the end of the first 50 miles. He moved up to fifth at 150, third at the 200-mile mark, and into the lead at 250 miles. He was second to Rose at 400 miles, and was speeding at about 124 miles an hour in a desperate effort to catch the leaders.

Several Oddities
Chief object of interest was the performance of the Fagot twin coach special, a bus-engine-powered car driven by Bill Canwell. Louisville salvage dealer and speedoat racer, it ran among the first eight cars for 400 miles before a broken steering gear took it out of the race. Another curiosity was the Pat Clancy special, a six-wheeled car piloted by Billy Devote of Glendale, Calif. The Speedway novelty took 11th money, being lapped off

NEHRU HINTS ASIAN UNION

New Delhi, (P)—A closely-knit group of Southeast Asian nations for purposes of trade and defense is envisaged by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. The speaker would include a broad sweep of rich, largely undeveloped lands stretching from Pakistan and India on the west to Indonesia on the east. And ultimately, says Nehru, it should include the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand. Nehru stressed that the basis of the idea would be geography—not race or religion.

He said the movement probably would begin with two or three countries and then gradually, he suggested that Pakistan, Nepal, Ceylon and Burma might be among the first to draw together. Siam, Malaya and Indonesia might follow.

Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaretta Brucker

THE STORY: David's love seems to offer a haven for Jessica. She thinks of leaving Tom. Lucy pleads with her not to hurt Tom but Jessica tells her sister-in-law that she has decided to leave him. Alone at night she wonders, she remembers how she once loved him, but then she decides that was not love but youthful infatuation. David's love is quite different.

IT rained the following day. A dreary, blue Monday with the sky overcast and heavy with threatening clouds. Lucy went off bundled in a raincoat and carrying her umbrella. Jessica watched her from the upper window as she dressed hastily, dreading the meeting with Mrs. Blake.

Betsy still slept. Jessica left the room, closing the door softly behind her, and went downstairs. The kitchen was warm and smelled of pickles. Mrs. Blake sat slicing cucumbers, a half-bushel basket of them beside her. She looked up sharply but made no comment about Jessica's tardy appearance. Instead she observed, "Genevieve has promised to come over this evening and help me make some relish."

Genevieve Miles was a tall, angular girl who worked in the same office with Lucy. She frowned upon Mrs. Blake and always appeared unexpectedly, bringing some gift of her own making, tea towels, initialed and hemstitched, or fanciful pot holders, and once or twice she came for the day to help with jam and jelly-making. She was quick and deft about kitchen tasks.

The mention of Genevieve usually irritated Jessica. This morning she felt no interest. Let Genevieve come whenever she would, and in the end she might achieve her desire and marry Tom. She would make him a good wife and satisfy his mother.

Jessica drank her coffee and glanced through the morning paper. There was one caption on an object in this program of preparation. She and Betsy were moved to the small back room which had been Tom's, and the front room was scoured and scrubbed and repapered.

David called. Jessica had a bad moment as she rushed to answer and then insisted that David time his calls when she was certain that both Lucy and her mother-in-law would be absent. She hated the stealth and secrecy, the subtleties by which they arranged meetings.

Doris kept Betsy whenever Jessica went downtown to meet David, and asked no questions, but even Doris hinted, if only by her manner, that she disapproved and worried.

Sometimes they met in the afternoon over a table at the Mayflower and danced, and Jessica forced herself to forget everything but the spell of the music and David's arm about her. Sometimes they drove far out into the country and sat and talked about their future.

Sometimes her desire to be with David frightened her, and she longed for the time when Tom would come and she could confess that she planned to leave him. Sometimes she was terrified at the thought of Tom's return. She was Tom's wife—suppose he refused to release her?

When she told this to David he laughed at her. "Divorce is a common thing, Jessica," he said. "Lots of couples make mistakes."

"I told Tom that I loved him," she said slowly.

"Nobody loves forever," he stooped to kiss her upturned face. "She drew away. 'You can't mean that?'"

"But I do," he said lightly. "I'm not talking about our love. That's quite different. You've learned by experience that infatuation cannot last."

He went on to talk about the plans he had for their future. The home they would have and the trips they would make together. It's all settled, she thought with a touch of amazement. David talks as though it would be quite simple. Why do I worry about the unpleasantness ahead?

Steam Engines Hobby Of Morgan Farmer

Pictured are four of the steam engines owned by Milford Rees, genial squire of Evergreen Farm, Rees Station. Mr. Rees is a steam enthusiast and often fires up and runs the engines to the delight of visitors.

He had all five of his engines in operation Friday. The three farm-type machines were made by Advance-Rumley, about 30 years ago. The smaller one was built approximately 60 years ago and ran a wood-working line shaft for years in Warren, Ind. It develops approximately 20 horsepower.

The fifth engine is rated at a half-horse, slightly bigger than the power unit in the peanut roasters of by-gone days.

Old Power Units Source Of Fun For Threshermen

By Cecil Tendick
Journal Courier Farm Editor

There is something about the puff and the purr of a steam engine that affects the marrow of the men who operate them. Throughout the United States there are thousands of men, most of them in the fifties and seventies, who would rather talk about steam engine days than go fishing.

Most of them loved the steam engine, but allowed their pets to go to the junk heap when the more efficient, hander tractor came on the scene. Here and there some of the more enthusiastic operators bought another engine, and yet another engine.

Let's Of Fun
They make steam engines a hobby. Occasionally they fill the boiler with a fire, watch the piston and the flywheel for awhile, blow the whistle a few times and then return their bulky plaything to its parking spot.

Visitors are always impressed by the snorting machines. Many of the younger generation have never seen a steam engine, the splendid heavy-duty power unit which did so much to relieve the drudgery of farm operations up to two decades ago.

Milton Rees, well-known farmer of the community which bears the family name, now has five engines. Three of them are the self-propelled farm type; the other two are small stationary units.

Mr. Rees has been handling steam engines for 35 years. He used "five or six rigs" during that time doing custom threshing. Nearly every winter a steam engine turned the sawmill which converted native timber into valuable lumber. He still does some threshing every summer, but uses a tractor for power.

The three farm engines were all made by the Advance-Rumley company, about 30 years ago. The one on the left, piloted by Mr. Rees, is a 20 horse; the center one, run by Everett Tinsley of Waverly, is a 16 horse; and the giant of the lot, a 25 horse, is on the right.

Guest Likes Steam
It was tended by Harry W. Hinson of Ottumwa who has been a thresherman since 1904. He and Mrs. Hinson came up Thursday to spend the week end with the Rees and to take part in Friday's festivities.

"I'm having a real time. I've run steam engines since 1904 and never get tired of them," he asserted.

Mr. Hinson operated as many as three rigs at a single time and has threshed in Madison, Jersey, California, Greene and Mason counties.

Many of the spectators Friday were interested in the six horse stationary job which Mr. Rees secured last year out of a shop in Warren, Ind. The little engine, now 60 years old, hummed when the throttle was opened.

"It's mighty hard to wear out a steam engine. If you take care of it right," Mr. Rees pointed out.

Winchester Dedicates Legion Home Sunday

Winchester—Hugh Green of Jacksonville, speaker of the House of Representatives, gave the principal address at ceremonies held Sunday afternoon to dedicate the new American Legion home of Winchester. The new building, located on the corner of Main and Second streets, was dedicated to the memory of the late Elmer Sheer of Hardin, 20th district commander, George Price, adjutant of the Winchester post; Willis Boile, chaplain and vice commander; Winchester post; Allan Wain, commander; Richard Mann, general chairman; and Mrs. Mazy Smith, president of the auxiliary.

Mr. Green chose for his topic, "The Preamble of the American Legion Constitution." The speaker lauded the citizens of Winchester for the cooperative zeal that built the new home. It will serve as a community center.

He reviewed the preamble and commented upon the lofty purposes set forth by it, stressing the section which pledges to "uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America."

"The Constitution has been our guide for nearly 160 years. During that period of time the United States has grown, developed and progressed from a small, weak, unproven nation to be the most wealthy, influential and powerful nation in the face of the globe. The Constitution has been found to be admirably suited to the needs of a free people," he asserted.

Observing that some people are dissatisfied with our government, he declared that "before we agree to change it, we should require them to show us a government and constitution which are better than ours, which are more happy, more prosperous and enjoying greater freedom than the United States of America."

The suspect, who gave his name as Conrad Harrison of Westville, Okla., was found asleep in a car in an alley back of the 100 block on East Morton avenue.

The car in the alley attracted attention of Capt. Ike Flynn and Lt. Howard Stout at 4:15 o'clock Monday morning. Approaching it they saw that the occupant was asleep. Harrison was awakened, taken to police station and questioned.
